With exquisite practice facilities and skilled professionals, Trump National is fully equipped to provide members with an elite golf experience.

The Old Course compliments the extraordinary topography of the property. The greens are well undulated with the ability for multiple hole locations and the bunkers are large and boldly shaped. The routing provides a wonderful variety of holes playing across the open fields of the old farm, over and around numerous lakes and through magnificent groves of trees.

"Years from now people may remember me as a golfer and a major champion. But I'd like also to be remembered as somebody who took the issue of Autism and did something with it. The rest of my life, I'll be fighting!" "Ernie Els"

Two-person teams compete for a place at the Grand Finale - a two-day all expenses paid extravaganza of golf and entertainment hosted by Ernie and his friends from the PGA Tour in Las Vegas October 2014.

A Statement from Jim Ravannack - President of USA Wrestling
USA Wrestling is pleased to stage an event that both celebrates the Olympic sports of wrestling and golf, and provides resources and awareness to the fight against Autism. I have noticed the look of accomplishment in the eyes of the many autistic wrestlers that I've personally had the opportunity to coach. Most autistic kids have never experienced a bona fide athletic accomplishment. We provide a "big brother" wrestler to mentor each autistic kid for one year. They teach tactics and strategies and serve as shadow protectors. Ours is a one-on-one sport which allows for the competitive level to be appropriately measured. In years when the autistic numbers were high, we'd have those wrestlers practice on one mat while the Varsity/Jr Varsity etc. practiced on the other two mats. We make the entire experience as normal as possible. We've even shut down our State Tournament for 15 minutes and the big brothers help to conduct matches for our autistic kids...we even had 2008 Olympic Champion Henry Cejudo present awards! There's not a lot of options for these kids.
